CONGRESS AND SILVER COINAGE.

We have a lesson in the constant fall in the price of silver, and the influence it is having on public opinion in Great Britain, which, if our legislators would heed, might be of considerable service to the country. There is in business circles a manifest impatience, lest the extra session of Congress, begun this week, shall be prolonged by entering upon general legislation; and yet we venture to suggest that time be taken to consider the new situation of this metal, and if some action is found to be desirable, as we believe will be the case, that the coinage be temporarily stopped. We speak now, not in the interest of our currency, but in the interest of commerce and of a recovery in price.

This week silver in London has touched 48½d., the lowest point it has ever touched except for a brief panicky period in 1876. The present quotation has been reached, not through any sudden fall from an exceptional cause, but by a gradual lowering of value under the weight of many adverse influences. This decline might of itself have been sufficient to disorganize the entire trade of Great Britain; but coming at a time when all industries were greatly depressed, and under circumstances leaving little hope of material recovery in value, it attracts especial attention. Adversity always makes a community critical and progressive. English merchants are consequently in the very position most suitable for entertaining and adopting advanced opinions. Many of the most thoughtful among them, therefore, are beginning to see how directly and decidedly the decline in silver is helping to embarrass all their dealings with silver-currency countries, and to openly and earnestly advocate a bi-metallic monetary system for Great Britain, as the only road to recovery from the present depression. In illustration of this fact we would refer to the meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, held on the 6th of March. A leading Liverpool merchant, writing to New York on that day after attending the meeting, says:

"The extremity of distress is causing attention to be directed to the 'Silver question,' and Mr. Williamson and Mr. Samuel Smith met the Manchester Chamber of Commerce to-day and fully set their views before them. Public opinion in this country is slowly changing, and we would not be surprised to see, before long, a strong movement in favor of joining France and the United States in establishing the bi-metallic system."

We have several times of late been asked why England should be so deeply interested in the decline of silver. This subject is very familiar to most of our readers. In the first place, England loses largely in her India revenue; also every officer or Englishman living in India loses on the portion of his salary which he does not spend there; but more than all, every merchant who sends a bill of goods to India, or to any other silver-paying country, suffers a severe loss. English prices are, of course, in sovereigns; the India trader pays in rupees; the Manchester merchant, therefore, must turn his rupees into sovereigns, and if he can get only 1s. 7d. instead of 2s. for his rupees, of course he is out to just the extent of the difference.

One might suppose that India prices would rise with the decline in silver; and this would be so were India like America. But ideas do not interchange there rapidly, and habits and opinions, as we know, alter extremely slowly; consequently, silver has depreciated very slightly as yet. Nor does the relief come, as some expected, through lower prices (being in rupees) of articles India has for export, because as she is not the only exporter of them, prices are fixed by the Liverpool market, and are on the basis of sovereigns. Hence, for instance, the Manchester cotton manufacturer instead of getting relief by an exchange of products, suffers a double loss; first, he has to accept rupees for his goods instead of sovereigns; and next, as India is not the only cotton-producing country, and as the price of cotton (which depends upon the total world's supply and demand) is fixed at Liverpool under the laws of trade, he must virtually (not actually of course) turn his rupees back again into sovereigns, to buy his cotton for his return cargo.

But this is only one direction in which the trade of Great Britain is suffering by the demonetization of silver. Mr. Nourse, in an able paper published by us on the 14th of December, discussed the subject from another point of view entirely. But we have not space to enlarge upon that branch of the subject now. It is sufficient for us to know, in the words of the letter above quoted, that public opinion in Great Britain is "slowly changing" under the "extremity of the distress" largely caused by this very demonetization and depreciation of silver. Under such circumstances it is not clear what policy we should pursue. Europe has attempted to throw silver out of its use as currency, and she is bitterly suffering for it. We believe that it is against the interests of commercial development and progress in the world that this should be done. As the price declines, the suffering becomes greater, and is leading to a change of views in Great Britain. Shall we not then help on this process of enlightenment by stopping our coinage of silver dollars, virtually telling Europe that we will have nothing to do with silver until they help us restore it to its old place? Our present action not only tends to support price, but, worse than that, it is encouraging gold-standard countries with the belief that we shall finally be compelled to adopt silver solely and give up gold. If we withdraw and let the causes now in operation work out their natural result, the end cannot be doubtful. We trust Congress will give this subject the consideration its importance demands.

"LAWFUL MONEY" NOT "LEGAL TENDER."

It seems that a few words additional to our remarks of last week are desirable to make more evident the distinction between the expressions "lawful money" and "legal tender." Both expressions, as we saw, are used in the section of the statute about to be reviewed by the Supreme Court, while only the former is found in the section describing bank reserves. We claimed that when the lawmakers enacted that "United States notes shall be lawful money, and a legal tender in payment of all debts," they intended to impart to the notes these two qualities: (1) To make them "lawful money" of the United States, a power which Congress undoubtedly possessed; and (2) to make them "a legal tender" for private debts, a power the possession of which was widely disputed. This distinction appeared to us so clear that we scarcely more than stated it, believing it would be at once accepted. We find, however, some insist that our interpretation is erroneous, and that the two expressions mean the same thing. The New York Commercial Bulletin states its dissent as follows:

The distinction drawn between "lawful money" and "legal tender" is wholly fanciful. That only is lawful money which the payer may lawfully demand the payee to accept, which is but another definition of legal tender.

According to this we are to understand that Congress, when it framed the section in question, meant to say,— "United States notes shall be a legal tender, and a legal tender," &c. Such a rendering would impeach the common sense of the lawmakers and involve them in an absurdity. However little wisdom the unprofessional citizen may invest Congressmen with, the court always supposes them and all legislative bodies to have a sensible intention in every word used in a statute. The carelessness of ordinary conversation or even of ordinary writing cannot be supposed; on the contrary, the presumption is that laws are framed with great deliberation, thought being bestowed upon and a separate purpose and meaning intended by each expression. These are among the leading principles in the interpretation of statutes. Vattel says: "Every interpretation that leads to an absurdity ought to be rejected." Lord Coke says: "The good expositor gives effect to every word in the statute; he does not construe it so that anything should be vain and superfluous." Dwaris says: "When the Legislature in the same sentence uses different words, the courts of law will presume that they were used in order to express different ideas." We might multiply similar citations without limit. The result of it all is, however, that in interpreting statutes the court starts with the presumption that the lawmakers were an intelligent body, not using any superfluous words, and will so construe the act as to give a distinctive meaning to every expression used. Consequently, when Congress enacted, by section 3,588 of the Revised Statutes, that "United States notes shall be lawful money and a legal tender," we must conclude that it intended a very different thing from "legal tender" by the words "lawful money," and that the same interpretation for the two expressions would not be adopted by the court if any other could be found.

What meaning then, consistent with these principles of interpretation, can we give to the words "lawful money"? Why not the common, popular meaning? Webster has it very clearly stated in his definition of the word "money" In the first subdivision of the definition he says money is of course gold, silver, &c.; after that he defines it as follows:

"2. Any currency usually and lawfully employed in buying and selling as the equivalent of money, as bank notes and the like."

In connection with this, remember that no person or corporation can issue notes except as authorized by law; furthermore, that Congress has always been possessor of the power to issue notes, as Chief Justice Chase states it in his legal-tender decision:

"Congress, under the Constitution, possesses the power to emit bills or notes as incidental to other powers, though not denominated among those expressly granted, but to issue bills or notes has no identity with the power to make them a legal tender; on the contrary, the whole history of the country refutes that notion."

Here we have it all very plainly set out, that although Congress has not the power to emit "legal tenders," it has the power to emit what Webster calls "money" issued "lawfully" or "lawful money." Consequently, the statute has in it these two expressions, the first covering an acknowledged power, and the second a doubtful power, so that the notes might survive as "lawful money," even though the Court should pronounce the legal-tender feature unconstitutional. This, we insist, is a reasonable, natural and sensible interpretation, giving effect to all parts of the statute, and making the section a consistent whole. When the bank-reserve provision was enacted, the lawmakers very wisely used only the first expression, that the question of reserves might not be affected by [any] adverse legal-tender decision; but, at the same time, to clearly define what was meant, and to restrict the reserves to Government emissions, the words inserted were "lawful money of the United States."

We do not conceive that anything further is needed to enforce or make plain the interpretation we have been contending for. It is scarcely in the nature of an answer, even if it were a fact, to say that the banks would, in the contingency proposed, be in state of suspension. So long as Government notes ("lawful money") are redeemable in gold, the condition will not be looked upon by the public as very alarming. The gold, instead of being in the banks, will be in the Government vaults, and its representatives will be held by the banks. If, however, any one wants or prefers gold he can get it of the banks then as readily as he can now. Not many individuals will distress themselves much over this situation.

PROTECTION IN CANADA.

The tendency—proven not only by the current of discussion, but by what has already been done—is, to adopt or to intensify the protective policy. The "Centennial" was a revelation to the world concerning the variety and quality of American manufactures and the facilities already acquired here for economical production; the narrowing markets have since so increased the uneasiness felt that the disposition—notably in Germany and Canada—is to try stimulating manufactures by raising higher the bars against imported goods, especially goods from the United States. Berlin dispatches this week report that the work of the tariff revisers is ready for submission, and that particular zeal is exhibited against the United States. In Canada, the legislative election, last September, resulting in returning a "Conservative" opposition majority of about seventy-five in Parliament, turned upon the desire for more protection, which was shrewdly made an election cry, especially among the farmers in Ontario. The promise then made is now redeemed by a new tariff, whereby an impending deficit is to be averted, public works are to be provided for, general prosperity is to be produced, and this country is to receive a wholesome lesson.

As to Germany, our exports are 54 millions—9·20 per cent of those to all Europe, and 7½ per cent of the total; since 1870, the amount has risen somewhat, but both these ratios have declined. Of the 54 millions, raw cotton is 11 1·3; illuminating oils, 1½; lard, 7½; leaf tobacco, 5½; 70 per cent of the whole is thus comprised in these four staples, while of leather and manufactures thereof which for some reason is mentioned in the cable dispatches as being the last article upon which the tariff revisers laid an increase, we send to Germany less than 2 millions. Germany is thus in a situation of dependence upon this country for the bulk of what she now buys from it. As to Canada, the volume of our trade is not of great present importance. Our imports from her in the last fiscal year were 27·6 millions and 5·94 per cent of our total imports, against 39·5 millions and 8·54 per cent in 1870; our exports to her were 34·5 millions and 4·79 per cent, against 19·3 millions and 3·88 per cent in 1870. Of the imports, about 4 millions are fruits, and 6½ millions are breadstuffs, 5 millions of the latter being barley from Ontario; of the exports to her, 13 millions are breadstuffs, about a million each of refined sugar and tobacco leaf, 2 millions of iron and manufactures, nearly 2 millions of coal, a little over a million of cotton manufactures, half a million of furniture, three-quarters of a million of cotton, and the remainder scattered. Nearly one-fifth what we take from Canada is the single article of barley, and about 40 per cent of what we sell to her is breadstuffs. The total trade between the two countries, in 1878, was 62·1 millions and 5·2 per cent of the total, against 58·8 millions and 6·8 per cent in 1870.

The importance of the change in the Dominion policy, in view of the insignificant proportions of existing trade, relates to its bearing upon the practicable development of trade hereafter. The principle adopted, as stated by the Finance Minister, Mr. Tilley, is to select for high rates articles which are or can be made in Canada. One of the great difficulties, he says, is undervaluation, and so the government "will ask Parliament for power and authority, such as the United States Government have, to fix themselves, through their officers, the value of the goods in the country whence they are imported." To meet this difficulty, experts are to be employed, and a jumble of specific and ad valorem duties is proposed, so that if one rate misses its aim the other will hit. Thus raw cotton is to be free; on various sorts of manufactured cottons, duties are heavily raised; from 17½ per cent old to 1 cent a square yard and 15 per cent new; 10 per cent to 2 cents a pound and 15 per cent; 17½ to 30 per cent, &c. The Toronto Mail (government organ) says that the new policy is expressly framed for building up the country and that if the British connection is endangered thereby all the worse for that connection. Nature indicated clearly (says the article) that Canada has a higher mission than to continue indefinitely bartering wheat and cattle for the adulterated cotton and cheap cutlery of Manchester and Sheffield, which "have always looked upon colonists as white Hindoos;" let them be displeased—British connection imposes no such yoke. After this almost defiant statement of independence—which reminds us that the new tariff will bear as unpleasantly upon England as upon the United States—the same article proceeds:

The cry that the new policy will anger the Americans is equally unorthodox. What have they to do for us that we should consult their feelings in framing a fiscal policy for Canada? At a critical period in our history they abrogated reciprocity trade relations with the avowed object of starving us into annexation. For years they have met our conciliatory advances with hostile tariffs. Our markets have been wide open to them, but they have persistently kept their gates shut against us. They have rejected our advances, and returned evil for good in every way. Not even the appearance of a suppliant reciprocity Commissioner at the door of Congress in 1874 moved them, although he offered them most extravagant terms if they would only consent to be neighborly. We have asked and entreated long enough. The time for action has come. If they are irritated by the new protective policy, we can point to the Morrill tariff. If they accuse us of being unneighborly, we can show them Mr. Brown's articles of reciprocity, and the contemptuous refusals of Congress. We can point to their vexatious dickerings over the provisions of the Washington treaty; to the duty on lobster cans and cod-liver oil, levied for the express purpose of evading that treaty; to the manner in which they discharged their international obligations during the Fenian raids, and to their whole line of conduct toward us for the past 13 years. We have an abundance of tu quoques; but, better than all such, we can make the dignified answer that the Canadian people have the right, and intend to exercise it, of shaping their fiscal policy as they deem best for their own interests, regardless of the views of a foreign country which has always declined to meet them half-way in inter-trade negotiations.

In a similar vein, but milder in expression, are the following remarks of the Finance Minister in his speech on the subject:

I have this to say to our American friends. In 1865 they abrogated the Reciprocity Treaty. From that day to the present a large portion of the imports into the Dominion of Canada from that country have been admitted free. We have hoped, but hoped in vain, that by the adoption of that policy we would lead our American friends to treat us with reference to these articles in a more liberal spirit than they have. ("Hear, Hear.") Well, sir, after having waited twelve years for the consideration of this subject, and as we require more revenue, the government have determined to ask this House to impose upon the products of the United States that have been free such a duty as may seem consistent with our position. (Cheers.) But the government couples with it, in order to show that we approach this question with no unfriendly spirit, a resolution that will be laid upon the table of this House with the propositions for introducing a duty on these articles—a resolution to this effect, that upon the articles named that are natural products of the country, if the United States take off in part or in whole the duty they impose, we are prepared to meet them. (Cheers.) Sir, the government believe in a reciprocity of tariff. We may discuss free trade or protection as we please, but the question to-day is, Shall we have a reciprocity of tariff or shall we have a one-sided tariff? (Cheers.) The government propose to do no more.

It is evident that the framers of this tariff have imitated this country very closely. In so doing, they have not only taken for a pattern one of the worst systems to be found among the commercial nations, but, as usually happens when imitation is practiced, have adopted its worst defects—the ad valorem duties, the union of those with specific ones, and the consequent espionage and "experts" system. Canada, as well as Germany and the persons in France and England who desire to try the panacea of protection, as against this country particularly, makes one capital mistake at the outset in assuming our industrial success to be the fruit of that policy. The argument is: The United States block out our goods, let us block out theirs; the United States have grown to be a formidable commercial competitor through protection, let us develop equal strength by taking their tonic. The error is—even granting, for argument's sake, protection to have been a large factor in producing our industrial development—in assuming it to have been the potent one. The stimulus of our patent system has been an important factor; the late war—which reduced the number of producers and increased the demands upon production, thereby compelling an extraordinary development of manufacturing facilities—was another; the constructive independence of the people, never caring for old methods, but always striving to produce better goods in new and cheaper ways, has been another; the attractions of position and rich soil have also largely contributed. But, to be in every way down on a level with us, it seems that even the vice of currency inflation now commends itself to imitation, for we read that in Germany “the protectionists are attacking the present coinage system, and recommend the issue of ‘plenty of paper money.’” In Canada there is a like agitation, but it will be deplorable indeed if other nations, not perceiving that we have thriven in spite of instead of because of our bad money, and not appreciating the enormous penalty of wastage and distress we have paid for it, now resort to an error which we have just been expiating.

It is impossible to speak with precision of the probable immediate effects of Canada's new course upon this country, for the reason, among others, that neither its continuance nor its influence in shaping the trade relationship between the two countries can be foreseen. As usual, the increase in duties, imposed both for more protection and more revenue, attempts to unite two things mutually destructive; as usual, also, the wants of different sections are found to conflict. Nova Scotia, for example, must have an increase on coal, one result being that the Grand Trunk Railroad will find its own development saddled with a very considerable increase in the cost of fuel; other provinces must pay more for breadstuffs, that the Ontario farmers, who are mainly the electors of the tariff supporters, may have more protection; those farmers will find higher prices demanded of them, and so on. As usual, protection has whispered to everybody, “higher prices for what you sell,” omitting to add, “and for what you buy;” and, as usual, protection will not keep out the goods at which it aims. It would be safe to make the general prediction that the result will be disastrous to Canada; and as for the expediency of a hostile policy on her part, the fact must be remembered that this country is, next to England, her best customer, for of her 73 millions of exports the United States takes 23 and the mother country 41.

Considered as intended to bring about trade concessions from the United States, the new policy is quite as injudicious and as ill-adapted to the purpose as it is otherwise. The fable of the wind, the sun, and the traveller is apropos, and punitive measures in international policy provoke retort in kind; moreover, these movements and agitations will be harmful, by hindering revenue reform here and setting up new alleged proofs of the value of protection and new demands for its increase. The argument has ever been, that through protection we develop manufactures and gradually reach freer trade; it will be a misfortune if, by wrongly interpreting the universal distress, attempts are made, at this stage of progress, to go backward and raise higher the barriers of statute. That this country is not without fault is true, but it is also true that a policy of retaliation will last indefinitely if each party insists on dealing the last blow. It is far wiser to give the past good-bye and bury finally the narrow and stupid notion that when nations trade one gains only at the other's expense. Let the policy of the sharper be abandoned. Ontario, thrust like a wedge into the territory of this country, and possessing a fertility with which New England cannot compare, would have double its two millions of population had it kept pace with New York; Quebec would have an additional half million, had it done as well as Vermont; Nova Scotia and New Brunswick would have double their half million if they had done as well as thinly-settled Maine. The total trade between the four millions in Canada and the forty-seven millions in this country is sixty-two millions, while, according to Mr. Wells' estimate, every 4,400,000 of people in this country make internal exchanges, through railroads alone, to the amount of 1,000 millions annually. The repression of Canadian growth is due mainly to the artificial barriers to trade set up where Nature imposed none. The idea that reciprocity was abandoned in order to starve Canada into annexation is erroneous. The appetite for territory here is sated; an annexation party could not be mustered, but the appetite for trade is sharp. Political annexation is not suggested by Nature, and is of no consequence; annexation for trade purposes is so suggested, and would be for the advantage of both countries, but in the largest measure for Canada. As the more powerful, we can afford to scorn the petty plea that in negotiating now we may seem to be yielding to menace; and, inasmuch as the difficulty has been in adjusting the respective concessions, we can afford to err on the side of generosity. Canada cannot hurt us by buying; she cannot buy without selling; and we ought now to be past the point of fearing competition from her in our own markets. Is not the present a good opportunity for initiating a new negotiation for closer trade relations?

Notices of Books.

JONES ON RAILROAD AND OTHER CORPORATE SECURITIES. Pp. 707. Price, $6 50. Boston: Houghton, Osgood & Co.

The holdings of railroad securities are so large, and the rights involved so puzzling and varied, that information upon the subject is always eagerly sought. It is therefore with pleasure that we call attention to the new treatise on the Law of Railroad Securities just issued at Boston. We may best indicate its contents by a reference to a few of the principles discussed.

In this work the author does not include subjects elementary in the law of mortgages—those matters are given in an earlier volume. This treatise begins with an examination into the power of corporations to make mortgages; shows what their form should be; what is covered by them; then the general rights and remedies of the holders; duties of trustees, receivers, &c. The law of railroad mortgages in the United States, as it now stands, is mainly the product of decisions during the last fifteen years; that is, prior to the war our courts were called upon to settle very few questions with regard to such instruments. Consequently, even now many points are undeveloped and the system is far from complete and harmonious.

This want of a complete settlement of practice is, perhaps, especially true with regard to many questions growing out of the appointment of receivers. The English rule as to appointment of receivers at suit of a mortgagee formerly was that a senior mortgagee, having the legal title, had sufficient remedy by ejectment; recent statutes have altered this somewhat, yet recourse to receiverships is granted with great reluctance. In this country, there has been much more freedom. The appointment of a receiver does not follow an interest default as a matter of course, but upon a special showing—as, for instance, that ultimate loss will probably accrue to the beneficiaries under the mortgage, by allowing the property to remain in possession of its owners until foreclosure and sale. A receiver will not be appointed against the wishes of the majority, on application of a small minority; but unless there is evidently fraudulent or ruinous management the complainants will be left to the ordinary remedy of foreclosure proceedings. The application to appoint a receiver will generally be refused when such a step would overturn a funding scheme which nearly all the bondholders agree upon. But a receiver may be appointed because the mortgaged property is liable to be seized on execution; or because the conduct of the company's officers requires it; or to secure temporary possession of income, in cases where no permanent possession is provided for; or if the trustees, without good reason, refuse, upon default, to perform their duty under the trust, the court may require them to do so or may appoint a receiver. But the application of income to operating and completing the road is not such misapplication as calls for a receivership, especially when consented to by a large number of bondholders. In an illustrative case cited [Williamson vs. New Albany Railroad] Judge McLean held that the diversion of earnings to pay floating debt incurred for completion was for the interests of the bondholders, and that a sale of the property would be ruinous, adding:

These consequences, I admit, are not to stand in the way of an equitable right, enforced under circumstances of fairness and justice. But if such results may be avoided by a short postponement of the interest and under a prospect of a speedy payment, I hold myself authorized to do so, under the facts above stated. But I will afford to the bondholders every reasonable assurance that can be required. I will admit an order to be entered that the motion of the complainant for the appointment of a receiver be denied, and that the said company, from and after January 1 next, set aside one-half of the net earnings of the road for the payment of the interest of the bonded debt of the said company, the other half to be applied to the payment of the floating debt of the company.

"That a receiver will not always be appointed upon application of a mortgagee, as a matter of course, upon a default," is further illustrated, in the treatise before us, by the notorious Iron Mountain case, two years ago, where default was made, not for lack of net earnings, but because the officers decided to use them to pay off floating debt. As to receivers' certificates, the legitimate object of the assumption of management by the courts being the preservation of the property, rebuilding a part or even originally constructing a part may be necessary to that end, as when Judge Dillon authorized borrowing up to five millions for completing a portion of the St. Paul & Pacific, and thus saving the land grant from lapse by limitation. The necessity of expenditures is the criterion of their propriety. But do receivers' certificates take preference of existing liens? When mortgagees ask or consent to the issue, they waive the priority of their bonds. Without the mortgagee's consent, no court can impair the contract by creating a superior lien, "unless it be in the exercise of a like equitable power of preserving and protecting the property." Yet there are no satisfactory adjudications on this point. In favor of such power it is argued that when money is necessary for preserving a road taken possession of by a court, at the instance of a junior mortgage, the court must have power to secure loans by liens on the entire property having precedence of all mortgages, because, otherwise, the senior bondholders being safe at the worst event, it might be practically impossible to save anything for the junior mortgagees or for the court to give the latter any protection at all. This was the reasoning followed in a recent Alabama case cited, and a few States authorize such a creation of liens.

But we have not space for further citations. The work itself will be found quite indispensable to a large class other than the profession.

THE AMERICAN ALMANAC AND TREASURY OF FACTS, STATISTICAL, FINANCIAL AND POLITICAL, FOR THE YEAR 1879. Edited by AINSWORTH R. SPOFFORD, Librarian of Congress. Pp. 418. [Price, $1 50. New York: American News Company.

The second annual volume of this publication opens with a timely sketch about the census, containing some interesting facts concerning the past censuses of this country, their scheme, results, errors and merits; the enumerations by the States independently; the frequency of enumerations in Europe; the manner of census-taking in Great Britain, etc. Another timely paper treats of pensions, showing the extraordinary liberality—perhaps that is not, however, the most appropriate word—of this country, the pensions expenditure annually being more than double that of France and England, and its ratio to the total government expenses being 11.25, against 3.34 and 2.36 in England and France; statistical tables of the number of pensioners and payments thereto are also given. No reference publication within our knowledge has the same scope as Mr. Spofford's. The almanacs issued by several of the newspapers, as well as the annual "Handbook of Politics" by Mr. McPherson, are valuable and convenient, but they are mainly political; the "Statesman's Year Book" contains little beyond the political statistics of all governments, and "Whitaker's Almanac" does not go much beyond Great Britain. The "American Almanac" necessarily duplicates much political and financial matter accessible to journalists in other publications, but with it includes a vast mass of compactly-presented miscellaneous matter. The present volume seems to be better than the first, and consists mostly of matter not given before.

Mr. Spofford has at least three of the conditions requisite for compiling a work of this sort: the command of a library of almost limitless resources for the purpose; a patience which must grow out of love for the labor; and a willingness to spend his labor with little or no pecuniary reward. The first volume failed to meet its expenses, and the second is offered as making one more trial, with the question of continuance dependent upon the encouragement now received. The book is a costly one to manufacture and its price is low. As a convenient manual for reference we know of nothing to compare with it. Its size might give it room on the merchant's desk, and it contains, amply indexed, much which would be useful to the business man, to whom moments are precious and within whose reach are not many statistical publications. It would be a misfortune to have the publication discontinued for lack of the encouragement which a sufficiently general acquaintance with its merits must certainly command, and the least we can do is to cordially recommend it as a profitable purchase for library or counting-room.

NATIONAL BANK CASES, CONTAINING ALL DECISIONS IN THE FEDERAL AND STATE COURTS RELATING TO NATIONAL BANKS, WITH NOTES AND REFERENCES. By ISAAC GRANT THOMPSON, Editor of the Albany Law Journal and of the American Reports. Law sheep; pp. 989. Price, $7 50. Albany: J. D. Parsons, Jr.; or Baker, Voorhis & Co., New York.

The enactment of the general banking laws gave rise to a new set of rights and responsibilities. Bankers and others interested, who have made use of the brief digests of decisions which the indefatigable Comptroller of the Currency has incorporated in his annual reports, will find in this thick volume all the decisions during the fourteen years, 1864-78. The volume opens with the decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court in chronological order, occupying 160 pages; cases in the other Federal courts follow, occupying 210 pages, the remainder being given to reports of cases heard in the Supreme courts of States, in alphabetical order. Among the subjects covered are: Taxation of banks, by the United States and the States; duties, liabilities, and bonds of officers; loans and discounts; taking of mortgages on personal property as well as on real estate; buying of bills and notes, and receiving deposits for safe keeping; liability of stockholders; interest, and usury penalties; insolvency, receivership, examinations, etc. Some memoranda of cases not reported in detail are given, besides cases reported in law publications, and several never published in any other form. Separate indexes, alphabetically arranged by titles, of cases reported and cases cited, are given; also an index by topics, giving a brief of the decision and a reference to the page where the report will be found. Whether for careful examination or for hasty reference, the volume seems to be all that is wanted as a compend on the law of national banks.

THE PRINCETON REVIEW, 37 Park Row, New York.

We are in receipt of the March number of this excellent periodical. The Princeton Review is now in its fifty-fifth year. It has always been devoted more or less exclusively to theological and ecclesiastical subjects. Of late, however, it has been conducted on somewhat less exclusive principles, its pages having been opened to contributions on moral, historical, political, scientific, as well as religious subjects.

In the present number there are articles on "Religion and the State," by the late Professor Tayler Lewis, of Union College; on the "Genesis and Migrations of Plants," by Principal Dawson, of Montreal; on "The Pulpit and Popular Scepticism," by Rev. Phillips Brooks, of Boston; on "Sentimental and Practical Politics," by Edward A. Freeman, of England; on the late "President Thiers," by E. De Pressense, of France; on "Final Cause: M. Janet and Professor Newcomb," by President McCosh, of Princeton; on "Continental Painting at Paris in 1878," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, of France; on "Pre-millennarianism," by Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Philadelphia; and on "The Islands of the Pacific," by Sir Julius Vogel, of New Zealand. All these articles are excellent in their way; and some of them are of exceptional merit. Mr. Tayler Lewis makes a strong protest against the exclusion of the Bible from the public schools. Mr. Phillips Brooks, while lamenting the prevalence of scepticism inside the Church as well as beyond it, has some sensible advice to give the clergy. In his opinion, the clergy are themselves much to blame for the anti-religious spirit which prevails among all ranks and classes of the people. "How many of us," he asks, "believe in the doctrine of verbal inspiration, as it was believed by our fathers? How many of us have told the people that we do not believe it? How many of us hold that the doctrine of everlasting punishment of the wicked is a clear and certain truth of revelation? And how many of us have plainly expressed our convictions on the subject?" Mr. Freeman remarks upon the merely practical or the merely sentimental statesman. In his opinion, each is of little account. To be effective, the statesman must be not only practical, but also sentimental. He must recognize the facts of man's composite nature. "He must understand that men's feelings, their hopes, their memories, their loves, their hatreds—in a word, their sentiments—go for a great deal in human affairs, and that a policy which puts them out of sight is not a practical policy. He must further understand that man is, after all, a moral being, and that right and wrong are things which, to put it on no higher ground, cannot safely be left out of sight." With decided skill Mr. Freeman also applies the principles he has laid down. It was, he says, a recognition of the sentimental in international politics which restored Italian unity. It was a recognition of the sentimental which enabled Bismarck to bring about the unification of Germany. It was a refusal to recognize the sentimental which robbed the Crimean war and the treaty which followed of the permanent fruits of victory. In the present patched-up arrangement which is being carried out in the East of Europe, Mr. Freeman can discover no guarantee of peace, because the sentimental, in other words, the wishes, the sentiments of the people, are ignored. Mr. Freeman would give Bulgaria to the Bulgarians; but he would also mightily enlarge the boundaries of the Greek kingdom. For the Turks he has no sympathy. The two great doctrines of the day, politically speaking, Mr. Freeman tells us, are nationality and race. Where these conflict with authority or with geographical boundary lines, contentment or permanent peace is impossible.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, March 8, 1879.

The Bank return is again favorable, but, owing to an increase in the liabilities of the establishment, the proportion of reserve to liabilities has somewhat declined, being 47.42 per cent against 47.91 per cent last week, and 39.17 per cent last year. The total reserve, which, at the commencement of the year amounted to £10,306,351, is now £18,280,613; while the supply of bullion has increased from £28,088,361 to £32,614,553. This is a substantial change in the space of two months, and it is more than probable that the accumulation of unemployed reserves will continue. But although the position of the Bank is very satisfactory, being one of great strength, it has still to be borne in mind that it indicates a general absence of active enterprise. If the question be asked, How is it that, with cheap money, lower wages and with a diminished cost of living, trade shows no signs of revival? it can only be repeated that the startling occurrences of the last few years have deprived the country of that confidence which is necessary to promote healthy and active trade. The losses of the investing public in connection with foreign loans are alone sufficient to put an entire stop to the introduction of fresh proposals on the London market; but in addition to the amount the country has lost in connection with Turkey, Egypt, Spain, Peru, Honduras, Costa Rica and Paraguay, there is the heavy depreciation in the value of all joint-stock enterprise in the country, and especially in the shares of coal and industrial undertakings. Latterly, too, the value of banking property has declined considerably, and gas shares have experienced a heavy fall. In fact, compared with those years which are denoted as being prosperous, but which were years of inflated prices and trade, viz., in 1872, 1873 and 1874, the difference is in every respect very great. Possibly, and it is to be hoped that it will prove to be the fact, we have reached the extreme point of depression; but at the same time, notwithstanding that we possess ample capital, that wages are low, and that living is cheaper, there is no inclination to pursue a bold policy in trade. Merchants are by no means disposed to embark extensively in business, and bankers have not yet sufficiently recovered themselves from the panic of last autumn to afford liberal facilities to commercial enterprise. The sale for our goods abroad is very uncertain, and is still said to be attended with loss. Much of this is clearly due to the depreciated value of silver, but it is a fact of considerable importance that even the low prices which are current for cotton, woolen, iron, and, in fact, for all manufactured goods, fail to attract the increased number of buyers and consumers which cheapness justifies. Undoubtedly, the vast military expenditure of Europe has diminished very largely the production and consuming power of all Continental nations; but it is by no means clear as to the manner in which these vast armies are to be disbanded. Although this country is by no means regarded as a military nation, yet the two services are a heavy burden upon the public purse, and more is spent by us than by any other nation in the world. At the same time we are free from conscription, so that those who prefer to lead a commercial life are better able than the same class abroad to pay those who desire to follow the profession of arms. By this means, the agriculture and the industries of the country are capable of greater development, as more skill is available, and the power of production is not diminished. When I say skill, I do not mean skill and taste of the highest class—as we are probably somewhat deficient, when we bear in mind the extent of the artisan class—but rather the abundance of good average workmen, who produce goods more suited to ordinary requirements. Schools of Arts are, however, owing chiefly to private munificence—becoming more numerous; but, for a country like this, they are not founded with the earnestness which the times and the increasing competition for works of art demand.

According to Wednesday's bank return, the "rest," or undivided profit, of the Bank of England amounted to £3,860,174, while at the corresponding period of last year it was £3,715,748. An increase of £144,426 is thus apparent, which is a very gratifying result for twelve months' working. In 1878 the dividend paid was 4 1/2 per cent, but as the above increase is equivalent to an addition of nearly 1 per cent upon the capital, the holders may expect that at the meeting to be held next Thursday the distribution will be 5 1/2, if not 5 3/4, per cent. The Bank of England has evidently profited by the troubles of last autumn and has done a very remunerative business, both with the public and the government.

Payment has been made this week for £1,500,000 Treasury bills which were tendered for last week, but the demand for money has been exceedingly quiet, and the rates of discount have had a drooping tendency. It is fully expected that next month the money market will assume a still easier appearance. The present quotations for money are as follows:

There has been rather more demand for gold for export this week, nearly £200,000 having been purchased on account of the German mint. Sovereigns, however, have arrived in moderate quantities from abroad, and these have been sent into the Bank. At the same time, some sovereigns have been taken out of the Bank for the Cape, South America and the West Indies. Silver has been offered more freely, and prices have had a downward tendency. Only 40½ is now procurable for fine bars. Mexican dollars have arrived freely from the West Indies and from New York, about £280,000 having been received. There has been scarcely any demand for China, and the greater part of those sold have been taken for refining purposes.

The weekly sale of bills on India was held at the Bank of England on Wednesday, the amount allotted being £450,000, viz., £190,000 to Calcutta, £164,500 to Bombay and £5,500 to Madras. Tenders on all Presidencies at 1s. 7d. and above received in full.

The Committee of the Associated Australian Banks offer for subscription a Victoria railway loan (Australia) in 4½ per cent debentures, the present issue being £3,000,000 out of an authorized total of £5,000,000. No tender will be accepted below £98 for every £100 debenture.

There has been a fair consumptive demand for wheat during the week, and, as far as choice qualities of grain are concerned, prices have been firm; but any pressure to sell inferior produce has resulted in a slight reduction in the quotations. Supplies are ample, although the deliveries of home-grown produce have fallen off. The weather has become quite mild and spring-like. Vegetation has made a start, and we may possibly, after a long and trying winter, enjoy a genial spring. No rain of any consequence has fallen, and the land is now in a much more satisfactory condition for plowing and sowing. The area of land under wheat is believed to be small, but the young plant looks well. A good deal of land will be devoted this season to the production of barley.

During the week ended March 1 the sales of home-grown wheat in the 150 principal markets of England and Wales amounted to 45,514 quarters, against 42,326 quarters last year; and it is estimated that in the whole kingdom they were 182,200 quarters, against 169,300 quarters in 1878. Since harvest, the sales in the 150 principal markets have been 1,472,051 quarters, against 1,182,155 quarters, while it is computed that they have been in the whole kingdom 5,888,200 quarters, against 4,736,620 quarters in the corresponding period of last season, showing an increase of as much as 1,151,580 quarters. Without reckoning the supplies furnished ex-granary at the commencement of the season, it is estimated that the following quantities of wheat and flour have been placed upon the British markets since harvest:

	1878-9.	1877-8.	1876-7.	1875-6.

St. Louis Kansas City & Northern.—The Missouri Republican reports that one of the suits brought against this company has been decided by Judge Wickham. The plaintiff, Geo. W. Taussig, brought his suit upon coupons of bonds issued by the Council Bluffs & Omaha Railway Co. It was urged that the Kansas City & Northern road had promised to pay the interest coupons on these bonds, in consideration of a lease of the Council Bluffs road to it. The defense was interposed that the officers of defendant had no authority to promise the payment of the coupons of the Council Bluffs road, and that the lease, which was the consideration, was rejected by defendant's stockholders in March, 1874. Defendant operated the Council Bluffs road from September, 1872, to March, 1874, and paid the three coupons due in March, 1873 and 1874, and September, 1873. The opinion of Judge Wickham was substantially as follows:

"This suit is brought on coupons cut from bond No. 38, issued by the St. Louis Council Bluffs & Omaha Railroad Company. On the back of the original bond offered in evidence was a writing signed by the president and secretary of the defendant company. This writing is in the nature of a promise on the part of the defendant company to pay the interest coupons attached to said bond, and is in words as follows: 'This bond is secured by a mortgage upon a railroad which is leased to the St. Louis Kansas City & Northern Railway Company for a fixed rent equal to the amount of interest upon the whole series of bonds, and by the terms of the lease the rent is to be applied by the lessee directly to the payment of the interest.' This case comes squarely within the case of Singer vs. St. Louis K. C. & N. R.R. Co., as decided by the Court of Appeals in January, 1879. That Court holds that the reports made to stockholders of defendant at their annual meeting, showing that the bonds thus indorsed had been placed on the market and sold to bona fide purchasers, and the payment of interest in fact by paying some of the coupons cut from the same, amounted to a ratification of said promise by said officers, and binds the defendant to pay said coupon. Even if the lease upon which the promise was based was afterwards rejected by the stockholders, still it is not open to defendant under the circumstances of the case to urge the defense of ultra vires or non-ratification of the lease by its stockholders, and defendant is estopped from making such defense. In this case, therefore, the plaintiff is entitled to recover, and judgment will be given in his favor."

St. Paul & Pacific.—The Amsterdam bondholders' committee has announced that the bond certificates bought by the American-Canadian combination will be paid for in gold within the terms of the agreement of Feb. 8, 1878.

A despatch from St. Paul, Minn., March 16, says: "Judge Brill, of the District Court of Ramsey County, yesterday granted the application for a final decree of foreclosure against the branch line of the first division of the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad. The foreclosure was granted in favor of the trustees for the bondholders, and covers a mortgage of $2,800,000 on the road, machinery, and the lands, all of which will soon be sold to the highest bidder for cash, subject to a lien of prior mortgage for $1,200,000, under process of foreclosure in the same court, and under which a further sale will take place in due time. The purchasers under the foreclosure will be the parties who already practically own the road, the sale being in the nature of perfecting title rather than transfer of property."

Tennessee State Debt.—A press despatch from Nashville, Tenn., March 20, says that Gov. Marks sent to the Legislature a message, with a communication from railroads of the State, proposing to abandon all claims to charter exemptions from taxation, and to submit such an assessment on property as will contribute from $30,000 to $100,000 a year, or a tax of 40 cents on each $100. The message led to a conference of Senators of opposing views, which resulted in a compromise bill, to fund at 50 cents on the dollar; bonds to run thirty years, with interest at 4 per cent for 15 years, and 5 per cent thereafter; one-third of the bonds to be issued in denominational sizes of from $5 to $100.

Wabash.—A despatch from Urbana, Ill., on Wednesday, stated that a notice had been served on the agent of the Wabash Railway Company at Polono that an application for a receiver of the road will be argued on Tuesday next, before Judge Smith, at Urbana, Ill. The officers of the company in this city state that their general solicitor has telegraphed that the new suits are identical with the Tysen suit now pending in the United States Courts of Illinois, and that he will promptly have them also removed to the United States Courts.

Walkill Valley.—Receiver Best sold on the part of the National Trust Company $150,000 of second mortgage income bonds of the Walkill Valley Railroad Company, upon which the company had loaned $30,000, or 20 per cent of their par value. They sold in small quantities at from 10 to 14½ per cent, realizing $18,000; a loss to the company on its loan of over $12,000 with accrued interest.

Western Maryland.—The Baltimore City Council has passed the ordinance which authorizes the Finance Commissioners to fund the coupons of the first mortgage bonds of this road, which have been paid by the city as indorser, and those of the preferred second mortgage bonds held by the city, and which may mature to July 1.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1879—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.

The week has been one of considerable uncertainty in financial circles, owing to the apprehensions of a closer money market and to the suspension of payments by the banks in New Orleans. It was reported several days ago that some of the banks subscribing to the 4 per cent loan had been called upon by the Treasury Department to pay their subscriptions or to put up a margin of 5 per cent, and it was said that this would exert a considerable pressure. This call, however, appears to have been somewhat misunderstood, as it should be taken in connection with the notice issued by Secretary Sherman on Thursday that he will redeem immediately the five-twenty bonds embraced in the 76th to the 80th calls inclusive, which mature April 1 to 11, amounting to $50,000,000. The Secretary has given this notice in advance for the sole purpose of facilitating the April settlements without disturbing the money market, and he estimates that not over $10,000,000 in money will be required, as the balance will be turned into the Treasury in called bonds. Subscribers to the 4 per cents are allowed to pay for them in cash or in called five-twenty's, but if they do not so pay, they are required to leave a margin of 5 per cent in bonds as security for their subscriptions, instead of leaving only the identical bonds subscribed for without any additional security, which would scarcely be a business-like transaction on the part of the Treasury Department.

The trouble among the New Orleans banks is supposed to have started with the suspension of the Southern Bank, with a capital of $344,500, largely invested in Louisiana State consols, and the embarrassment of the Mechanics' and Traders' Bank, with a capital of $300,000. To avoid the consequences of a run on the other banks the New Orleans Clearing-House Association on the morning of the 20th published the following, which is enforced by the banks:

Resolved, That in order to protect the business community of this city from the calamity of any further suspensions of banks arising from what appears to be an entirely unnecessary panic in the withdrawal of deposits from banks known to be solvent and sound, it is hereby resolved that the Clearing-House banks shall not pay out on checks more than $200 to any one depositor on any one day. All other payments shall be made by certification of checks which shall be received on deposit by banks members of the Clearing House. This arrangement is to be temporary, and shall expire on Saturday, the 29th instant.

The object of this was mainly to give the banks time to get funds from New York, and on the same day, Thursday, over $1,000,000 was shipped from this city. The difficulty with the New Orleans banks has probably been due, in large measure, to the decline in Louisiana and New Orleans bonds, and it is among the few cases in which failure of a State or city to meet its obligation, has fallen most heavily upon its own people. There was very little additional demand for money from New Orleans to-day, and the whole flurry in that city seems to be regarded here as a matter of little more than local importance.

Our local money market has been quite irregular, with wide fluctuations daily in the prices of call loans. On Government collaterals a fair quotation as a minimum is 3¼ per cent, while on stock collaterals the rates are 4@7 per cent. In commercial paper there is very little doing for the moment, and choice paper is quoted at 4½ to 6 per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase of £443,000 in specie, and the Bank rate of discount remains at 2½ per cent. The percentage of reserve is 50 15-16, against 50 5-16 last week. Silver is quoted in London at 48½d. The Bank of France gained 15,875,000 francs during the week.

The last statement of the New York City Clearing-House banks, issued March 15, showed a decrease of $370,750 in the excess above their 25 per cent legal reserve, the whole of such excess being $3,844,975, against $4,215,725 the previous week.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years.

	1879. Mar. 15.	Differences from previous week.	1878. Mar. 16.	1877. Mar. 17.

Legal tenders	39,173,400	Dec. 1,420,400	30,326,200	43,280,100

United States Bonds.—The market for Government bonds has naturally fallen off on account of the circumstances referred to above. Prices of all the investment bonds are lower, including the new 4 per cents, and those bonds only hold their prices which had already been forced down by the prospect of being speedily called in—chiefly the five-twenty's. It is anticipated that for a few weeks the Government bond market may be a little unsettled, until the Secretary of the Treasury has shown that the changes pending can be made without any disturbance. A list of all the called bonds yet outstanding was published in THE CHRONICLE of March 15, page 270.

State and Railroad Bonds.—The price of Louisiana consols has been less influenced by the New Orleans troubles than might have been anticipated, and to-day the closing price was 49. In Virginia, it is expected that the Compromise bill will become a law, although the obstructionists in the House are making every effort to defeat it. The last proposition in Tennessee is a "scaling" of 50 per cent and new bonds bearing 4 per cent interest. In North Carolina preparations are making to carry out the provisions of the funding law just passed, but bondholders complain bitterly of the small allowance offered.

Railroad bonds have not been quite as strong this week, and some of the popular bonds have sympathized with prices in the stock market. The Union Pacific Railroad suit involving the validity of the Pacific Railroad Sinking Fund law of 1878, has just been argued in the Supreme Court at Washington.

Messrs. A. H. Muller & Son sold at auction the following securities, seldom sold at public sale:

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been devoid of any conspicuous movement, as there is a general disposition to wait for the April settlements before commencing active operations. The money market has been working more closely for some time past, and with the possibility of a temporary stringency in money next month no one is inclined to buy heavily at the present moment. It is to be observed, however, that there is apparently no loss of confidence in the general value of stocks, and the possibility of a pressure for a week or ten days in the New York money market is a matter of so little importance to strong holders that there is little disposition to sell. The coal stocks hold their own tolerably well, both here and in Philadelphia, although the prospect for a better business is not good, so far as the public can judge from the prices of coal and such facts in regard to the trade as are given out. A negotiation is pending between Pacific Mail and the Panama Railroad as to an adjustment of the debt of the former, but no settlement is yet announced.

Exchange.—Foreign exchange has been somewhat unsettled by the condition of affairs at New Orleans, where so large a part of the cotton shipments are made. To-day, the actual price for sterling bills was about 4-8 for bankers' 60 days and 4-8½ for demand, the nominal rates of leading houses being about one point higher.

For domestic bills the following were rates on New York at the undermentioned cities to-day:

New Orleans, commercial, 5-10 discount; bank, par. Savannah, buying, ½ premium; selling, ½ premium. Charleston, source, buying, par; selling, ½, ¾ @ premium. St. Louis, 50 premium. Chicago, firm; 1-10 discount; selling, 1-10 premium. Boston, 9 pence to 1 shilling discount.

EARNINGS.

As compared with the year 1877, there has been a decrease in gross earnings of $215,633. This decrease was occasioned in part by the decrease in the corn product and shipment on the line of the railway. In 1877 there were shipped over the railway 9,021 car-loads of corn, producing a gross earning of $263,229; while in 1878 there were shipped over the railway 2,387 car-loads of corn, with a gross earning of $65,975. The decrease in passenger earnings was caused by decrease in the volume of emigration from Northern points to Texas. The stream of emigration from the Northern States to Texas culminated in 1877. The earnings of this railway from passengers going into Texas in 1877 were $282,033; for 1878, $218,754—showing a decrease of $63,277; and this result without any decrease of passenger rates. Another cause which largely decreased the earnings of the railway upon the business done was the enforcement of the restrictive legislation known as the "Granger law" by the State of Missouri, from the 1st of April, 1878. This railway operates 284 miles of its road within the State of Missouri, and prior to this time the local rates for passenger travel were from four to five cents per mile in that State. A peremptory reduction to three cents per mile on passenger travel over all the main line of the railway in Missouri was enforced by this law. It also prescribed and enforced large reductions of the tariff on all local freight business within the State, varying from 25 to 40 per cent under previously-established rates. Another cause of reduced earnings is found in the steady rate of decrease per ton per mile in the earnings from transportation of freight.

In 1875 the number of tons carried one mile was	$1,877,014
In 1876 the number of tons carried one mile was	1,051,114
In 1877 the number of tons carried one mile was	108,890,357
In 1878 the number of tons carried one mile was	118,190,343
In 1875 the rate per ton per mile was	$ .02359
In 1876 the rate per ton per mile was	.02089
In 1877 the rate per ton per mile was	.01998
In 1878 the rate per ton per mile was	.01726

EXPENSES.

The extraordinary expenses incurred during the year, included under the head of "operating expenses," are as follows: First, the expenditures for maintenance of way for the year 1878, which exceed the same class of expenditures for the year 1877 by the sum of $179,305; second, under the general heading of conducting transportation there is included the amount of the actual cost of transporting materials for extraordinary repairs, renewals and improvements, $53,360; third, the cost of motive power and maintenance of cars, which was increased by the necessity for maintaining and repairing engines and cars used in construction trains while making the extraordinary repairs of roadway, the sum of $42,000; amounting in all to the sum of $281,031. Adding this amount of extraordinary expenditure, all of which is included in the operating expenses, to the item of renewals, $460,219; and to that of improvements, $206,934, it shows that there has been devoted to the improvement of the condition of the road-bed, replacing defective bridges, ties and iron, &c., the sum of $928,226. Deducting this from the total expenditure for operating expenses, renewals and improvements, $2,509,723, we have the remainder, $1,581,497, as the ordinary operating expenses of the railway, exclusive of rentals of engines, cars, &c., and of taxes, for the year 1878. Comparing this amount, $1,581,497, with the total revenue of the railway for the year, $2,991,681, it shows the ratio of operating expenses to be about 53 per cent of the gross earnings.

Central of Iowa.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1878.)

Mr. H. L. Morrill has been receiver of this road from April 3, 1878, when he was appointed to succeed J. B. Grinnell. From his report to the court for the full year 1878 we have the following:

The equipment consists of 24 locomotives; 9 passenger and 7

Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis.

(For the year ending December 31, 1878.)

In the annual report just issued, the president, Mr. J. H. Devereux, remarks that there was transported in 1878, of through freight, 276,211,835 tons one mile, against 217,250,015 tons in 1877. And of local freight, 69,633,593 tons one mile, against 58,436,285 tons in 1877. The total freight hauled one mile was 345,845,373 tons, at an average gross rate of 752-1000 cents per ton mile, as compared in 1877 with 275,686,300 tons at the rate of 890-1000 cents per ton mile. The increase in freight tonnage 1878 over 1877 was 25 4-10 per cent, whilst the increase in revenue from freight was but 6 per cent. The decrease of the average gross freight rate of 1878 as compared with 1877 was 15 5-10 per cent.

The number of passengers carried one mile in 1878, was, of through passengers, 12,316,400; and of local passengers, 17,153,900, as compared with 11,401,326 through, and 17,664,851 local, in 1877. An increase in 1878 of 8 9-10 per cent of through passenger traffic, and a decrease of 0 7-10 per cent of local traffic. The total number of passengers carried one mile was 29,470,300, as compared with 29,066,177 in 1877.

Many railroads may show larger earnings per mile, gross or net, upon the freight traffic of 1878; but few will show the amount of freight traffic which has been carried over this line during the past year at such an infinitesimal gross rate of seven and one-half mills per ton mile upon all freight transported. And this road, handling the freight traffic at a cost rate of six and one-half mills, has had for its profit, therefore, one mill per ton per mile.

Sooner or later this must and will end, for the traffic of the country is sufficient to employ, to a reasonable degree, the transportation facilities of all the main East-and-West rival rail lines. The Saratoga agreement of last August, made between many roads, marked an important step towards the desired end of securing fair and uniform transportation rates upon competitive traffic and regulating discrimination.

The advances and payments during the year on account of leased lines have been:

To the Cincinnati & Springfield Railway	$233,214
To the Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad	69,153

Total advances..... $305,357

The advances to the Cincinnati & Springfield Railway include an amount of $113,573, being settlements on account of property destroyed by fire in and with the freight house of that company, in Cincinnati, during the month of August, 1876.

To aid in meeting these advances, consolidated mortgage bonds of the company were sold to an amount of $115,000. During the year, $61,000 of the mortgage debt was redeemed, and the increase of the bonded debt has been $54,000.

The working of the pool with the C. H. & D. RR. Co., between Dayton and Cincinnati, has been generally satisfactory. The Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad, with its leased line, has been worked as usual the past year under the management of an officer and member of this board. Early in the summer certain litigation arose, to which reference has been made from time to time in the CHRONICLE.

Consolidation Coal Company.

(For the year ending December 31, 1878.)

The president and directors submit the following report:

The gross receipts from mines, railroads, rents, etc. (including value of stock of coal on hand), were $1,563,608. Total expenses of every kind (exclusive of interest and sinking fund) but including iron and steel rails and all extraordinary outlays, including also the payment of a balance due for excess of railroad freights collected in 1876, and a claim of the State of Maryland for a large sum, pending since 1872..... 1,209,283

Total interest and sinking fund for year 1878..... $231,083

Surplus of year's earnings..... 123,442

From the above surplus of $123,442, the Board has appropriated the sum of $100,000, to be invested for account of sinking fund, in consolidated convertible 6 per cent coupon bonds of this company, due 1897, which bonds are to be issued in accordance with the circular of January 2, 1878, offering new bonds due in 1897. This investment will bring that fund up to the full amount required by all the obligations of the company in reference to its sinking funds. The company also holds, as a cash asset, $100,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the Cumberland & Pennsylvania Railroad, redeemed in 1875 by the payment of $93,600 in cash from earnings, as mentioned in previous annual reports.

MINING AND TRANSPORTATION.

Mined and delivered from the Consolidation Company's mines—
In the year 1877..... 243,385 tons.
In the year 1878..... 404,055 "

Increase..... 55,680 tons.

Total transportation of coal on all the company's railroads—
In the year 1877..... 1,545,616 tons.
In the year 1878..... 1,650,632 "

Increase..... 100,986 tons.

The report says: "The preceding exhibit shows an increase in the business of the company, and also of the entire region. Considering the unusually active competition of lower priced steam coals, both foreign and domestic, the ruinously low prices of anthracite, and the continued general depression of business, even this small increase is an encouraging fact. Every economy consistent with the proper maintenance of the property of the company, in every department, has been observed. The mines, railroads, wharves, farms, &c., have been maintained in a condition of thorough efficiency.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe—Denver & Rio Grande.—A Washington despatch of March 18 says that argument was heard in the United States Supreme Court in the Grand Canon appeal suit between the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe and Denver & Rio Grande railroad companies. Judge Hoar and Mr. Sidney Bartlett argued for the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Company, and Judge Grant and Mr. Lyman S. Bass represented the Denver & Rio Grande. The questions to be decided are as follows: (1) Does an identity of interest exist between the contesting lines sufficient to make a decision on the canon question unnecessary? And (2) does the Grand Canon belong to the Denver & Rio Grande Company under the old grant, or does it belong to the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe and other roads under the general act of Congress of 1875?

Chicago Clinton Dubuque & Minnesota.—Notice is given that holders of old bonds and stock who have not yet exchanged their securities for the stock of the present re-organized company must do so before April 10, if they desire to receive the dividend lately declared by the company.

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul.—At a directors' meeting a dividend of 3 1/2 per cent on the preferred stock was declared out of the earnings of 1878 on the following statement for that year:

Gross earnings.....	$8,451,767
Gross expenses (including taxes).....	4,792,813
Net earnings.....	$3,659,454
Deduct interest paid on mortgage debt in 1878.....	$4,135,730
Less interest and exchange received.....	13,430
	$1,537,154

Dividend of 3% per cent on preferred stock paid 15th October, 1878.....	$429,781
Dividend of 3% per cent on preferred stock to be paid 15th April, 1879.....	429,731—$859,563

Balance of undivided profits for the year 1878..... $677,590

On this exhibit the World money article comments as follows: This statement enables us to compare the results of the past three years:

	1876.	1877.	1878.
Gross earnings.....	$3,051,171	$8,114,894	$8,455,767
Expenses.....	4,953,324	4,540,134	4,792,313
Net earnings.....	$3,100,815	$3,574,460	$3,653,454
Interest.....	2,161,982	2,143,771	2,131,300
Balance.....	$939,765	$1,433,589	$1,537,154
7 per cent preferred stock.....	859,213	859,213	859,564
Surplus.....	$30,552	$574,376	$677,590

The surplus of 1878, which is over $100,000 larger than that of 1877, brings the credit balance of the company's income account, when added to the figures of December 31, 1877, to $3,026,596. The holders of common stock will naturally ask how much longer they are to be deprived of dividends, now that the company can raise money for new construction by sale of bonds at or near par. New bonds were sold during 1873 to the amount of some $3,000,000; the bonds are known, but no official statement of the total has, to the best of our knowledge, been made. The consolidated bonds sold in 1878, although marketed before July, carried only the coupon of January, 1879, which explains the absence of increase in the interest charge, in the face of a known increase in the debt. Probably the holders of common stock will remain at a disadvantage in regard to the company's profits until the power of voting for directors is taken away from the company's bonds.

Chicago & Northeastern—Chicago & Lake Huron.—An associated press despatch from Detroit, Mich., March 20, says that the application for the appointment of a receiver of the Chicago & Northeastern Railroad, which has been argued before Judges Baxter and Brown, in the United States Circuit Court, during the last three or four days, was decided to-day. The Judges agreed that the Chicago & Lake Huron Railroad Company had a first lien upon the Chicago & Northeastern for the right of way, labor of employees, &c., and for money misappropriated by William L. Bancroft, the former receiver of the Chicago & Lake Huron.

The Court ordered that William H. Vanderbilt file a bond within 20 days for payment of the rightful indebtedness of the Chicago & Northeastern incurred in construction, and also to deliver the road in good condition, if, on final hearing, it shall be found that the title is in the Chicago & Lake Huron. In default, a receiver is to be appointed to take charge of all the property and equipments. This includes the refunding of money misappropriated from the Chicago & Lake Huron funds for the construction of the Chicago & Northeastern. The Court also found that two miles of the road within the corporate limits of Flint, and now occupied by the Chicago & Northeastern, legally belonged to the Chicago & Lake Huron, and receiver Peck was instructed to take them under his charge. The Flint capitalists having advanced money to help the construction of the Chicago & Northeastern, the Chicago & Lake Huron bondholders are estopped from asserting their right in the road, as against the persons in Flint. Mr. Vanderbilt, in this litigation, has strenuously fought the appointment of a receiver, and the decision is a victory for him. The order will be made to-morrow directing the immediate sale of the Eastern Division of the Chicago & Lake Huron Road, extending from Flint to Port Huron.

Cinn. Hamilton & Dayton—Cinn. Ham. & Indianapolis.—Julius Dexter has brought suit against the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton and the Cincinnati Hamilton & Indianapolis Railroad companies, upon two of the bonds issued by the latter company and guaranteed by the former, to recover the interest due upon them for the year 1878. He sets out that the bonds were issued in the purchase of the Junction Railroad at judicial sale in 1872, to the creditors and lienholders of that road, it having been purchased by the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton Company, which organized from among its directors the Cincinnati Hamilton & Indianapolis Company, and invested them with the title of the road; that bonds were executed by the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton Company to the amount of two and a half millions of dollars, of which $1,693,000 were delivered to the creditors and lienholders of the Junction Railroad Company, the balance of the bonds remaining unused in the hands of the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton Company.

It is alleged that in January, 1873, the guarantee company caused 2,500 bonds, of $1,000 each, at seven per cent, to be issued, and the guarantee company, by printed indorsement on the back, guaranteed to the holder the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds, which were delivered to the creditors and lienholders of the Junction Railroad to the amount of about $1,690,000 in payment of their respective portions of the purchase money.

Indianapolis Bloomington & Western.—The United States Court at Springfield, Ill., has appointed March 31 for hearing argument on the exceptions to the sale of this road. Justice Harlan has denied the application recently made to him for a supersedeas in the matter of the appeal from the order confirming the recent sale of the main line of the Indianapolis Bloomington & Western Railway. This decision, it is reported, will enable the bondholders to proceed immediately to complete their purchase of the road.

Lafayette Muncie & Bloomington.—The decree of foreclosure against this road fixes the amount of the bonds and overdue interest on the Western Division at $833,055, and on the Eastern Division at $2,206,099. Both classes of bondholders, it is understood, will unite in buying the road.

Montgomery & Eufaula.—A meeting of bondholders will be held in New York, April 23, to modify the re-organization agreement; to authorize the trustees to lease or sell the road; and to choose a new trustee in the place of Alexander Stobe, deceased.

New York Elevated.—The board of directors of the New York Elevated Railroad Company has decided upon an increase of the capital stock and bonded indebtedness of the company to the extent of $3,000,000. Stock to the amount of $1,500,000 and $1,500,000 bonds will be issued. The new securities are offered at par till 31st inst. to present security holders, subscriptions to be payable in instalments before July 31. It is stated that the proceeds of the new issue are to be used for construction account, the principal expenditure being required upon the Thirty-fourth Street Extension. The proposed new issue of securities will increase the capital account to 65,000 shares of stock, or $6,500,000, and 8,500 bonds, or $8,500,000, making a total of $15,000,000. The Chatham Street Branch of the road has just been opened for travel.

New York Lake Erie & Western.—The resignation of Sir Edward Watkin in London as one of the re-construction trustees is said to have been on grounds entirely personal. At a directors' meeting held Thursday in New York, notice was received from the Park Bank announcing its withdrawal of its suit against the old Erie trustees for the recovery of dividends alleged to have been illegally collected. President Jewett has written a letter, in which he refers to the cable from London, speaking of the resignation of Sir Edward Watkin, its effect upon the value of the securities, &c., and saying "that one cause of the distrust is that Jewett had applied for fresh 'loans,' implying, I take it, that I was asking to borrow money for this company. I beg to state that the rumor is without the slightest foundation whatever. We are not now applying for a loan, nor is there any reason to suppose that we will have any occasion to apply for loans at any future time."

—From London we get the following comparative statement of earnings and working expenses for November and December in 1877 and 1878:

	—November—	—December—
	1877.	1878.
Gross earnings.....	$1,570,943	$1,381,291
Working expenses.....	161,589	853,309
	$8,834	$518,051
	$61,293	$305,725

—Showing a decrease in net earnings for November of $90,472 and for December of $155,533.

The decrease for the three months of the fiscal year amounts to $330,871.

—A new telegraph contract has been signed between the Western Union Telegraph Company and the New York Lake Erie & Western Railroad, by which the former has leased the lines of the latter for a term of twenty-five years. The terms of the contract specify that the Western Union company is to have exclusive use of all the wires of the railroad company in lieu of making all needed repairs to the telegraph lines and transmitting, free of charge, all messages of the railroad company. Although the lease is for twenty-five years, it is subject to cancellation on six months' notice. The contract does not interfere with the right of the railroad company to enter into combinations with other companies.

New York & Oswego Midland.—A basis of agreement having been arranged among the conflicting interests of the different classes of creditors of this company, and a decree of foreclosure having been entered, the sale of the road, its franchises, &c., is noticed to take place on the 28th of June next. (See notice of sale in another column). We understand this sale is sure to take place according to notice.

Pittsburg City Bonds.—The new Pittsburg loan of $1,405,000 for payment of overdue interest on the Pittsburg 7s, known as the Penn avenue bonds, has all been subscribed in that city. The announcement is also made that $1,300,000 will be sent by April 1st to Townsend, Whelan & Co., of Philadelphia, to pay bondholders their overdue interest.

St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern.—In the United States Court at St. Louis, the injunction granted in the suit of Baring Bros. has been vacated and set aside, except as enjoining the company against holding an election for directors before April 2.

Sutro Tunnel.—The long contest between the Sutro Tunnel Company and the mining companies of the Comstock Lode was finally concluded March 18, when all parties interested gave their adhesion to articles of compromise that will be ratified as soon as received from the printer. A despatch to Kiernan's Wall Street News Agency said that the Sutro Tunnel Company has consented to a reduction of $1 on all ores assaying $40 per ton and under. On all ores of $40 per ton and over the $2 per ton royalty asked at first remains. Lloyd Tevis, president of Wells, Fargo & Co., has been the arbitrator between the Sutro Tunnel and the Comstock mining companies, and through his exertions the compromise was effected.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, March 21.

There has been more activity to general trade the past week, but in most cases at some reduction in prices, the speculative advance in cotton being quite exceptional. Uneasiness in the money market, and dearer rates for loans of all kinds, have caused holders to rather press sales of staple products, and the result has been as we stated, that a lower range of values has been accepted. The weather has been cold and somewhat unseasonable, snow having fallen in middle latitudes and very little progress made in the resumption of inland navigation.

The general provision market has shown more firmness during the past week; prices have been stimulated by a speculative spurt at the West, which has been partially recognized here, the movement during the past few days being quite fair. To-day, pork met with a fair sale at $9 40@9 50 for old, and $10 50@10 75 for new mess, on the spot; March quoted at $10 30@10 70, and April $10 45@10 50; May sold at $10 55 and $10 60. Bacon was firm at 5½c. for long and short clear, 5½c. for short clear, and 5¼@5½c. for long clear. Lard was steadily sustained, though quite dull; prime city sold at 6-60c., No. 1 do. at 6-30c., prime Western at 6-65c.; April sold at 6-65c., May at 6-72½c., and June 6-75@6-77½c.; refined for the Continent sold at 7c. Beef has had a somewhat better sale of late at steady prices. Beef hams are a trifle easier at $18 00@18 50 for Western.

Rio coffee has been somewhat irregular and not overactive, but latterly the tone strengthened, and the close is firm at 10½@10¾c. for ordinary cargoes, and 13½c. generally asked for fair do. Mild grades have been quiet, and though without positive change, prices are only barely steady. New Orleans molasses selling fairly and steady at 28@40c. for common to choice, and 42c. for very fancy. Foreign rather lower, with 25c. accepted for 50-test new boiling, but the decline has increased business somewhat. Rice has found a continued good demand at well-sustained values. Raw sugars, in an irregular manner, have sold to a very fair extent, mostly the low grades; refiners, however, were careful consequent upon the slow movement of their product, and would not bid in excess of former rates; fair to good refining, 6½@6¾c., and centrifugal 6½@7½c., the latter a little extreme; refined in moderate demand at 8½c. for crushed, 8¾@8½c. for granulated, and 8@8½c. for white A. Teas slow, and on greens a quiet week.

Kentucky tobacco has ruled very firm; in fact, so firmly held as to check business. Sales for the week are only 450 hhds., of which 300 for export and 150 for home consumption. Lugs quoted at 3@4½c., and leaf, 5@12c. Seed leaf has also remained quiet; the only sales were 235 cases Pennsylvania, crop 1877, 8½c. to 18c.; 100 do. New England, crop 1877, 9c. to 30c.; and 100 do. sundries, 7½c. to 20c. Of Spanish tobacco the sales embraced 400 bales Havana at 88c.@$1 10.

Ocean freight room has been moderately taken during the past week; increased arrivals, however, have caused some irregularity and weakness in rates. Late engagements and charters include: Grain to Liverpool, by steam, 6@6½d.; cotton, 7-32@7-4d.; provisions, 27s. 6d.@30s.; grain to London, by steam, 6½@6¾d.; flour, by sail, 7½d.; grain to Hull, by steam, 7½d., 60 lbs.; do. to Bristol, by sail, 6½d.; flour, 2s.; grain to Larne, 4s. 7½d. per qr.; do. to Plymouth, 4s. 6d.; do. to Cork for orders, 4s. 10½d.; do. to Bordeaux or Antwerp, 5s.; do. to Danish port, 5s.; refined petroleum to Hamburg, 3s. 6d. per bbl.; do. to the Continent, 3s. 6d.; do. to the Baltic, 3s. 9d.; do. to Rotterdam, 3s. 3d.; crude do. to Dunkirk, 3s. 6d.; alcohol to Trieste, 4s. 9d. To-day, a fair business was done; grain to Liverpool, by steam, 6d.; do. to London, by steam, 6½d.; do. to Glasgow, by sail, 4s. 3d. per qr., and flour, 2s. 3d.; grain to Cork for orders, 5s.; oats to St. Nazaire, 6s. 1½d.; naphtha to London, 3s. 9½d.; refined petroleum to Bremen or Antwerp, 3s.

The naval store market has presented a dull and uninteresting appearance until the close, when rosin, particularly the lower grades, were in good export demand; 5,000 bbls. good strained were sold at $1 40. Spirits turpentine was well held at 29½c. Petroleum has been dull and quite nominal until to-day, when 10,000 bbls. refined were sold here at 9c. Lead declined to 3-10c. for common domestic, but at the close 300 tons were sold at 3-20c. Steel rails are very firm, the mills being supplied with orders for the next six months or more; sales reported of 3,300 tons on the basis of $45 at tide-water. American and Scotch pig irons have latterly been quiet, but all prices are nevertheless maintained with firmness. Ingot copper remains steady and quiet, at 16c. for Lake. Clover seed in moderate demand at 6½c. for prime Western per lb. Whiskey nominal at $1 06.

* The exports this week under the head of "other ports" include, from Baltimore, 812 bales to Liverpool, and 1,665 bales to Continent; from Boston, 1,633 bales to Liverpool; from Philadelphia, 901 bales to Liverpool.

From the foregoing statement it will be seen that, compared with the corresponding week of last season, there is a decrease in the exports this week of 34,789 bales, while the stocks to-night are 88,189 bales less than they were at this time a year ago.

In addition to above exports, our telegrams to-night also give us the following amounts of cotton on shipboard, not cleared, at the ports named. We add also similar figures for New York, which are prepared for our special use by Messrs. Carey, Yale & Lambert, 60 Beaver street:

We have had a very buoyant and at times excited market the past week. Spots advanced 1-16c. each day from Saturday to Wednesday, with a good business for home consumption and speculation. Yesterday there was a fair general business at steady prices. To-day, there was an advance of 1/8c. to 10 1/8c. for middling uplands, which cut off the demand for export and speculation; but moderate sales were made for home consumption. The speculation in futures has been strongly towards higher values. Liverpool advances continued much in favor of holders, and parties who had held off in expectation of lower prices, at which they might cover their contracts or purchase for the advance, were forced into the market and compelled to accept the terms of sellers. There was much excitement on Tuesday and Wednesday, with sales on Tuesday of 112,800 bales and on Wednesday of 135,000 bales; but on both days there was re-action against the higher figures, especially for the early months. The speculation has extended to December in the next crop, and has shown increased activity for September and October. The statistical position and the smaller receipts at the ports contributed to the buoyant influence of the foreign advances. The concentration of stocks at this port, where they are generally held out of the market, is another element of strength. Yesterday there was some decline, under weak accounts from Liverpool, but there was an early recovery, and finally some advance on the closing prices of Wednesday. To-day, with very favorable Liverpool accounts, the market was again buoyant, prices advancing 8@17 points, the summer months and September showing the most improvement.

The following will show the range of prices paid for futures, and the closing bid and asked, at 3 o'clock P. M., on each day in the past week.

The above totals show that the old interior stocks have decreased during the week 9,899 bales, and are to-night 2,666 bales more than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 3,243 bales less than the same week last year.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the out ports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another, at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following:

The above statement shows—

1. That the total receipts from the plantations since Sept. 1 in 1878-9 were 4,194,483 bales; in 1877-8 were 3,953,159 bales; in 1876-7 were 3,820,867 bales.

2. That although the receipts at the out ports the past week were 60,202 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 42,396 bales, the balance being drawn from stocks at the interior ports. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 52,740 bales, and for 1877 they were 24,660 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather the past week has been seasonable; rain has fallen in many sections, though in some places more would be acceptable.

Galveston, Texas.—We have had a shower on one day, the rainfall reaching twenty-nine hundredths of an inch. Nearly every section of the State has had rain during the week, doing immense good. Both corn and cotton have been generally planted in the southern half of the State, where much corn is already up and doing well. The thermometer has averaged 63, the highest being 75 and the lowest 45.

Indianola, Texas.—It has rained on one day during the week (a sprinkle), and we are needing more. Cotton has been generally planted. Corn is coming up finely, but needs moisture. Average thermometer 62, highest 73, and lowest 46. The rainfall for the week is four hundredths of an inch.

Corpus Christi, Texas.—There has been a sprinkle on one day during the week, the rainfall reaching six hundredths of an inch. The weather was too cold on one day, but no serious damage has been done. Corn and cotton planting is progressing, and the ground is in good condition. Average thermometer 57, highest 83, and lowest 33.

Dallas, Texas.—It has rained during the week on one day (a sprinkle), the rainfall reaching five hundredths of an inch. The weather has been unseasonably cold on one day, but without damage; the balance of the week having been pleasant. Planting is making good progress. We are needing more rain, but not badly. The thermometer has ranged from 33 to 83, averaging 57.

Brenham, Texas.—We have had delightful showers on two days this week, and the indications are that they extended over a wide surface. Cotton planting continues actively, and some is already up and looking well. Season looks propitious. The thermometer has averaged 63, the highest being 77, and the lowest 42. The rainfall for the week is sixty hundredths of an inch.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained during the week on two days, the rainfall reaching fifty hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 60.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—The weather during the week has been fair and pleasant, and condition of roads much better than last week. Average thermometer 57, highest 81, and lowest 33. The rainfall has reached seventy-five hundredths of an inch.

Columbus, Mississippi.—We have had rain during the week on one day, followed by two cool days. It is now warm and threatening.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Nashville, Tennessee.—Rain has fallen during the week on four days. The thermometer has averaged 40, the highest being 58, and the lowest 22. About ninety per cent of the crop has now been marketed.

Memphis, Tennessee.—We have had rain on four days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and twenty-two hundredths; yet roads are good, and plowing vigorous. Fruit was mostly killed on the seventeenth and eighteenth. Average thermometer 42, highest 62, and lowest 26.

Mobile, Alabama.—It has been showery one day this week, and has rained to-day (Friday) constantly, the rainfall reaching forty-one hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 57, the highest point touched having been 75, and the lowest 39.

Montgomery, Alabama.—Rain has fallen during the week on two days, to a depth of ninety-nine hundredths of an inch, but the weather the rest of the week has been pleasant. The thermometer has ranged from 33 to 76, averaging 56.

Selma, Alabama.—Rain has fallen during the week on two days.

Madison, Florida.—It has rained on one day of the past week. The thermometer has averaged 70, the highest being 72 and the lowest 68. Farmers are all hard at work, preparing for the coming crop. Corn has been planted, and cotton is now being planted.

Macon, Georgia.—We have had rain on two days during the week, and a killing frost on Tuesday night. The thermometer has averaged 58, the highest being 72 and the lowest 38.

Columbus, Georgia.—We have had a rainfall this week of one inch and five hundredths, but it was not enough to do much good. The thermometer has averaged 56.

Savannah, Georgia.—Rain has fallen on three days, but the rest of the week has been pleasant. The thermometer has averaged 60, the highest being 74 and the lowest 46. The rainfall for the week is one inch and forty-three hundredths.

Augusta, Georgia.—The earlier part of the week the weather was clear and pleasant, but during the latter portion we have had light rain on two days, the rainfall reaching forty-one hundredths of an inch. Planters are sending their crop to market freely. Average thermometer 54, highest 73, and lowest 37.

Charleston, South Carolina.—We have had slight rains on two days the past week. The thermometer has averaged 66, with an extreme range of 44 to 72.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock Mch. 20, 1879. We give last year's figures (Mch. 21, 1878) for comparison:

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. First we give the receipts at each port each day of the week ending to-night.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 238,606 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1878, and 369,383 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1877. We add to the last table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received Mar. 21 in each of the years named.

ELLISON & Co.'s COTTON REPORT FOR FEBRUARY.—We are in receipt of Messrs Ellison & Co.'s cotton report dated March 8, and make the following extracts from it.

COURSE OF THE LIVERPOOL MARKET, FEB. 10 TO MARCH 8.

Our last report was issued on Feb. 10. The market had been very firm for several days, owing partly to a slightly increased business in Manchester, and partly to the limited supply of cotton offering, owing to the strike of the dock laborers; and Middling Upland had advanced from 5 5-16d. on the 6th to 5 7-16d. on the 10th. Then came a pause in the demand, resulting in only a limited business, and ending in a decline of 1/4d. per lb. between the 10th and 20th ult. During the ensuing few days the tone became firmer, and prices gained 1-16d., which improvement was maintained until the 28th ult. The strike of the dock laborers was over, but the recently arrived cotton found its way very slowly on to the market. The poor selection offering, and the firmness of near futures, enabled holders to secure full prices in the face of large American receipts and continued dull accounts from Manchester, especially as in spite of free arrivals at the ports the American markets continued firm at prices much above the parity of the rates on this side. Since the end of February—that is during the past eight days—the tone has gradually gone weaker, and prices have given way 1-16d. per lb. The final quotation for Middling Upland is 5 5-16d. against 5 7-16d. on the 10th February. To-day the tone is steady, with a renewed hardening tendency, in consequence of the smaller American movement at the ports and interior towns.

Compared with the rates current a month since, there is a decline of 1/4d. in American, 1/4d. to 1/2d. in Brazilian, 1/4d. to 1/2d. in Egyptian, and 1-16d. to 1/4d. in Surats, except Dhollerah, which is unchanged. The margins between the lower and higher grades of American and between uplands and Orleans are unusually small. The present figures compare as follows with those of last year:

	Uplands.				Orleans.
	G. Ord.	L. M.	Mid. G.	Mid.	G. Ord.	L. M.	Mid. G.	Mid.

Decline d. 7/16 11/16 13/16 15/16 1/2 3/4 1 1/16 1 1/8
The margin between good ordinary and middling upland to-day is 1/4d. per lb.; last year it was 1/2d.; that between good ordinary and middling Orleans is 1/4d. to-day, against 11-16d. last year. The difference between good ordinary to middling uplands and Orleans is to-day 1/4d. per lb.; last year it was from 3-16d. to 1/2d. The closer approximation in value of the lower and higher grades is a proof that the present crop is unusually clean; and the prevalent belief amongst consumers is that for spinning purposes the crop is at least five per cent better than the last one; that is to say, 100 bales of this season's growth will go as far as 105 of last season's.

The following are the principal fluctuations in futures since the date of our last report:

	February	March	April	May	June	July	August	Sept.
Feb. 10	d. 5 1/16	5 1/16	5 1/16	5 1/16	5 1/16	5 1/16	5 1/16	5 1/16

COURSE OF THE MANCHESTER MARKET, FEB. 10 TO MARCH 8.

The condition of business in Manchester continues most unsatisfactory. Throughout the period under review the demand has been slow and fitful, and prices have gradually given way—ending in a decline on the month of about 1/4d. per lb. in the most current counts of yarn, and 3d. per piece in the ordinary run of 7 lb. to 8 1/2 lb. shirtings. Meanwhile the raw material has given way only 1/4d. in American and 1-16d. to 1/2d. in Surats. The position of consumers is, therefore, worse than it was before, and the situation is now disastrous in the extreme—so much so, indeed, that failures are constantly taking place amongst spinners and manufacturers, and very grave apprehensions are entertained regarding the immediate future. The following table, giving the average price of Good Ordinary and Middling Uplands, 32's twist, and 8 1/2 lb. shirtings, shows how seriously the margin between cotton and yarn, and cotton and goods, has been reduced during the past twelve months:

	Mar. 7, '78.	Mar. 8, '79.	Decline.

MOVEMENTS DURING THE SEASON, OCTOBER 1 TO FEBRUARY 28.

The deliveries to English and Continental consumers during the first five months of the season have been as follows, compared with the figures for the corresponding months of last season:

	Great Britain.		Continent.
	1878-9.	1877-8.	1878-9.	1877-8.
Number of bales...	1,091,050	1,230,410	1,005,960	952,800
Average weight, lbs.	443	415	434	422
Total weight, lbs....	483,335,150	510,620,150	436,586,640	402,081,600

To last year's deliveries to English spinners must be added 4,345,000 lbs.—proportion of error discovered in the stock of Surats, as explained in our report of twelve months ago—making the total deliveries 514,975,150 lbs.

The average rate of consumption in Great Britain in January was about 56,000 bales, of 400 lbs. per week. In February it was rather less, say 54,000 per week, or 216,000 bales, equal to 86,400,000 lbs. for four weeks. This weight added to the 374,400,000 lbs. consumed during the first four months of the season gives 460,800,000 lbs. as the weight consumed in the first five months, against 58,000 bales per week, and a total of 510,400,000 lbs., last season. The rate of consumption on the Continent in January was about 45,000 bales, of 400 lbs. per week. It was probably about the same in February—or a total of 180,000 bales, equal to 72,000,000 lbs., which, added to the 309,600,000 consumed to the end of January, gives 381,600,000 lbs. as the weight consumed in the first five months of the season, against 387,200,000 lbs. last season.

On the basis of the foregoing calculations, the movements have been as follows this season, compared with last. The stock on hand on the 1st of October is the surplus shown in our autumn annual:

	Great Britain.		Continent.
	1878-9.	1877-8.	1878-9.	1877-8.
Surplus st'k, Oct. 1.	13,800,000	13,800,000	39,550,000	5,368,000
Deliveries to Feb. 28.	483,335,150	514,975,150	436,586,640	402,081,600
Supply.....	497,135,150	528,775,150	476,136,640	407,449,600
Consumption in 22 weeks.....	460,800,000	510,400,000	381,600,000	387,200,000
Surplus, Feb. 28.....	36,335,150	18,375,150	94,536,640	20,249,600
do. bales of 400 lbs.	91,000	46,000	236,000	50,000

The surplus stock held by spinners is therefore 231,000 bales, of 400 lbs., larger than at this time last year. These 231,000 bales are equal to 210,000 bales of 440 lbs. Against this excess in the stocks at the mills and interior depots, there is a deficit of 290,000 bales in the visible supply—making a net deficit of 59,000 bales at the end of January.

PROSPECTS.

The outlook does not improve, so far as the raw material is concerned; the position undoubtedly looks very strong, if we merely regard the statistics of present and probable supplies, compared with the figures of preceding seasons; but the statistics go for very little in the face of the long-continued disastrous state of trade in Manchester, and the absence of the least indication of any immediate change for the better. If anything indeed, the position is worse than it was a month since. Cotton is low priced enough, absolutely, but it is very dear when compared with the price of yarn and cloth; and the spinner is being crushed between a firm market in Liverpool, occasioned by the aforesaid strong statistical position, and a weak market in Manchester, occasioned by an inadequate demand for yarns and goods. The out-turn of the mills is being gradually reduced by failures, stoppages and "short time," but, so far, without bringing the least relief. Eventually matters will right themselves, and by some means or other a paying margin between the prices of the raw material and the manufactured article will be brought about. Whether this shall be accomplished by a fall in cotton or a rise in yarns and goods remains to be seen. A fierce struggle is going on between the strong position of cotton and the bad state of trade. At the moment cotton has the best of the contest, and prices are much higher than they would have been if the East Indian, Egyptian and Brazilian crops had not fallen off; but unless trade improves, the position of cotton will become less and less strong as the season advances and the advent of the new crop approaches. Just now the chances are against any decline of importance, but some improvement will have to take place in Manchester before any advance of moment can be established.

There is still a considerable difference of opinion touching the probable out-turn of the American crop. The known facts to date are as follows:

	1878-9.	1877-8.
Receipts at the ports to March 7.....	3,904,500	3,645,000
Taken by Northern spinners overland, Feb. 23	232,000	189,000
Total receipts to date.....	4,186,500	3,834,000

Here is an increase of 352,000 bales upon the movements during last season. The last crop was 4,811,000 bales. If the above increase is maintained to the close of the season, the crop will reach 5,163,000 bales. Many authorities, however, are looking for a falling off in the receipts after this date; but if they fall off 150,000 bales, the crop will still be over 5,000,000 bales. So far as can be seen at present it looks as if the yield would vary somewhere between 5,100,000 and 5,200,000 bales, or about 100,000 bales more than seemed probable six or eight weeks ago. Against this there is the probability of a deficit of 100,000 bales in the shipments from Bombay. So that in the aggregate the supply of cotton promises to be about the same as that given in our Annual Report issued in January.

THE BOMBAY COTTON CROP.—Messrs. Wallace & Co., in their report dated Bombay, February 10, give the following with regard to the crop prospects in the Bombay districts:

Cotton is coming into the up country markets very slowly, although in gradually increasing quantities, and it is daily becoming more evident that the crops in the Central Provinces, the Berars and Khandeish are going to be shorter than was expected. The receipts of cotton into Bombay, whereof the bulk at this season consists of Oomrawuttee descriptions, are from 1st January to date only 73,450 bales, against 141,271 bales during same period last year, and less than they have been during the same period in any year since the American war, testifying at all events to an unusually late crop of Oomrawuttee, if not also to an unusually short one; and, so far as can be judged from all accounts, confirmed by the best authorities, the Oomrawuttee crop will be at least 150,000 bales less than last year's. Even with the maintenance of high prices, it is unlikely that so large a proportion of the total yield will be available for shipment before the rains, as was the case last year. The receipts, too, of Hingenghat are unprecedentedly small. Latest accounts from Dharwar are rather gloomy; the country is overrun by rats, which are said to be doing considerable damage to the cotton bolls, and the supplies from the Southern Maharashtra country are not now expected to be nearly so large as last year.

Estimates of the Broach and Dholerah crops remain unchanged. There will be a fair supply of the Dholerah, Bhownugger and Mowla descriptions, which go to make up the higher qualities of what is known in Liverpool as Dholerah, and grown on the eastern half of the Peninsula of Kattywar; but the crops on the western side, consisting chiefly of the lower grades of Dholerah, Mangaroles, Veraval and Cutch, will be very short indeed, and on the whole, as before reported, not much more than a half average crop of Dholerah, can be looked for. Altogether the prospects of supply are if anything worse than at date of our last report—and, seeing that the bulk of the deficiency in Oomrawuttee and Hingenghat will tell on the shipments before the rains, it is difficult to see how the exports hence to Europe for the half-year ending 30th June can possibly amount to the 625,000 to the 650,000 bales advocated by some—the probability being that about 100,000 bales less than this figure are the most that these can total. This, after putting the difference between the stock of cotton in Bombay on 31st December, 1878, and that on 31st December, 1877, against the probably much smaller takings—at least during the next few months of the local mills—eight of which, aggregating nearly 200,000 spindles, or about one-fifth of the total spindles in the Presidency, have lately stopped working, and more are reported to be in difficulties. Of course the above estimate is liable to be altered by any serious deficiency in the supplies of Comptah and Dharwar, or on the other hand by unexpectedly large yields of Dholerah and Broach.

The foregoing statements, with the even less favorable condition which the weekly Bombay receipts since February 10 seem to indicate, would make necessary a material change in the prospects of the market, were it not that consumption is falling below all estimates.

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS.—According to our cable despatch received to-day, there have been 7,000 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 20,000 bales to the Continent; while the receipts at Bombay during this week have been 19,000 bales. The movement since the 1st of January is as follows. These figures are brought down to Thursday, March 20.

	Shipments this week			Shipments since Jan. 1.			Receipts.
	Great Brit'n.	Continent.	Total.	Great Britain.	Continent.	Total.	This Week.	Since Jan. 1.
1879	7,000	20,000	27,000	53,000	70,000	123,000	19,000	203,000
1878	19,000	14,000	33,000	98,000	147,000	245,000	35,000	366,000
1877	6,000	22,000	28,000	120,000	97,000	217,000	55,000	332,000

From the foregoing it would appear that, compared with last year, there has been a decrease of 6,000 bales in the week's shipments from Bombay to Europe, and that the total movement since January 1 shows a decrease in shipments of 123,000 bales, compared with the corresponding period of 1878.

GUNNY BAGS, BAGGING, ETC.—Bagging has been in fair jobbing request during the past week, and small parcels are moving as wanted, but in a large way we hear of no transactions. There is no change to be noted in quotations, and holders continue to ask 8½@3½c. for 1½ lbs., 9@½c. for 2 lbs., and 9½@9½c. for standard quality. Butts are ruling very steady, and a fair demand is reported by dealers, and some sales of lots have been made at our quotations, in all about 3,000 bales, part of which was said to have been sold at 2½c. The feeling is firm at the close, with dealers asking 2½@2½c., as to quality and terms.

THE EXPORTS OF COTTON from New York this week show a decrease, as compared with last week, the total reaching 3,106 bales, against 5,707 bales last week. Below we give our usual table showing the exports of cotton from New York, and their direction, for each of the last four weeks; also the total exports and direction since Sept. 1, 1878, and in the last column the total for the same period of the previous year.

Below we give all news received to date of disasters to vessels carrying cotton from United States ports, etc.:

BONNIE LEE, steamer, from Mindon for New Orleans, with 1,150 bales of cotton, was sunk in Red River March 12. A wrecking vessel went to her assistance.

BULGARIAN, steamer (Br.), at Liverpool from Boston, sailed from former port for Boston March 12.

MIKADO, steamer (Br.), was still aground at Port Eads on March 12; her position has changed, she having moved down slightly to shoaler water. There is about 10 feet of water about midship. A portion of her machinery is disabled.

POMMERANIA (G-r.) Ten boxes were landed at Dover March 2 by tug John Bull, ex-sunken steamer Pommerania (Ger.), from New York for Hamburg, before reported.

TAGUS, steamer (Br.), which sailed from Boston March 13 for Liverpool, returned to Boston 16th having broken her shaft on the 14th about 100 miles east of Boston Light, which prevented her making over three knots an hour. She will probably be detained four or five days for repairs.

ALGERIA, bark (Br.) 199 bales of cotton ex-Algeria, before reported, were forwarded to Alkmaar on Feb. 26; 240 bales were forwarded on the 27th, and 172 bales on the 28th, making the aggregate at Alkmaar on the 28th 1,417 bales.

DAVID MALCOLMSON, bark (Br.), before reported below New Orleans, leaky, &c., has returned to that city March 5, and may have to discharge cargo.

KING ARTHUR (G-r.) 61 bales and two bags of cotton had been landed ex-bark King Arthur (Br.), before reported, since last report up to Feb. 27.

ROYAL DIADDEM (Br.). The hull of the bark Royal Diadem (Br.) was stripped at Charleston, S. C., of copper. It would be destroyed after everything of value had been taken from it.

RUTH bark (Nor.), Eimeren, from Galveston at Salerno, Italy, with about 800 bales of cotton still on board, was wrecked at the latter place prior to February 23. On Feb. 23 she lay high up on the breakwater and would prove a total loss. The cotton on board (800 bales) would be easily recovered.

T. TOWNER, Brig. Perkins, at New Haven Mar. 14 from St. Croix, reports fine weather the entire passage. Picked up one bale of cotton and saw more, but it coming on dark could not get them.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., March 21, 1892.

There was a good general demand for flour early in the week at full prices, especially for low grades, which in some cases brought rather more money; but the demand subsided, and, in sympathy with the course of values for wheat, some weakness became apparent. Receipts are large at all points, and receivers, in view of the disturbed condition of the money market, are inclined not only to effect prompt sales, but to reduce stocks as much as practicable without accepting any important reduction in prices. To-day, the market was dull and prices weak and unsettled.

The wheat market opened the week quite buoyantly, and early on Tuesday No. 2 red winter sold as high as $1 16 1/4 on the spot and for the next two months; No. 1 white, $1 14 @ $1 14 1/4 for March and April, and $1 15 @ $1 15 1/4 for May; No. 2 amber, $1 13 1/4 for April; but in the course of Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday there was a decline of fully 1 @ 1 1/4c. from these figures, which led to a revival of business, spring growths, especially, becoming more active, selling at $1 05 for No. 2, in store, and 93 1/4 @ 96 1/4 for No. 3. Yesterday, there was some recovery, No. 2 mixed selling at $1 15 1/4 @ $1 15 1/4 for March and April, and No. 1 white, $1 14 for April. To-day, prices were lower, No. 2 red winter closing at $1 14 1/4 spot and April; No. 1 white, $1 13 @ $1 13 1/4; No. 2 amber, $1 12 1/4 @ $1 13.

Indian corn steadily declined to the close of Wednesday's business, when new No. 2 mixed sold at 44 1/2c. on the spot, 44 1/2c. for April, and 45 1/2c. for May, with steamer and No. 3 mixed still more depressed and exhibiting some irregularities. Other grades have also been more plentiful, a load of Southern yellow selling on Tuesday at 45c. There is a comparatively large supply of round yellow, at about 45 @ 46c. for new. White corn is in but moderate supply. Receipts of corn at the Western markets have increased, and with low freights by rail, liberal supplies are finding their way to the seaboard. Yesterday, there was a firmer market, No. 2 mixed selling at 44½¢ for April and 45¢ for May. To-day there was very little change.

Barley has been in moderate demand, with a wide range of prices. Choice Canada is scarce, and brings relatively full figures; but the poorer qualities of State are lower, selling at 55¢@60¢. For common two rowed and 78¢@80¢. For choice 6-rowed, while choice Canada brought $1 05¢@1 06¢. Rye has declined, and 25,000 bushels No. 1 State sold on Wednesday at 61¢. Oats have again suffered an important decline, but at the reduction there was a better demand. To-day, the market was steady, No. 2 graded closing at 81¢ for mixed and 83¢ for white.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., March 21, 1879.

The dry goods market during the past week has been characterized by a fair degree of animation. The jobbing trade was moderately active in all departments, and transactions looked up a liberal aggregate amount. Manufacturers' agents representing cotton goods, prints, ginghams, dress goods, &c., reported a fair business, but there was a continued lull in the demand for men's-wear woollens. Accounts from most parts of the interior state that the spring trade is progressing satisfactorily, but in some sections of the West business has been checked within the last few days by the recurrence of stormy weather. Large quantities of dress silks sought an outlet through the medium of the auction rooms, and several thousand pieces were thus disposed of, but at low and unremunerative prices.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—During the week ending March 18, 1879 packages of cotton goods were exported from this port to foreign markets, including 272 to Brazil, 236 to U. S. of Colombia, 223 to Great Britain, 84 to British West Indies, 52 to Mexico, 34 to Hamburg, &c. The cotton goods market continued steady, and there was a fair hand-to-mouth demand for the most staple fabrics. Brown and bleached goods met with moderate sales, and considerable deliveries of leading makes were made by agents on account of back orders. Colored cottons were in fair request (for moderate selections) and chevots were sought for in satisfactory quantities; but cottonades were sluggish as a rule. Print cloths were less active than during the previous week, but prices ruled firm at a fractional advance, viz, 8½¢@3 5-16¢. cash for 64x64s and 2 15-16¢@3¢. cash for 56x60s. Prints, lawns, printed piques and organdies were severally in good demand at first hands, and liberal sales of these fabrics were reported by jobbers. Ginghams were in fair request, and staple checks continued in meagre supply.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was a very light demand for men's-wear woollens at agents' hands, and selections were mostly restricted to small parcels of fine fancy cassimeres, chevots and worsted coatings adapted to the wants of cloth jobbers. The clothing trade was reported more active, and a few duplicate orders for light-weight cassimeres were placed by clothiers, but such cases were exceptional. Some inquiry was made for chinchillas, beavers, and other makes of overcoatings (by early buyers), but few transactions occurred in these fabrics. Kentucky jeans were in light and irregular demand, but fairly steady in price, and satinetts remained quiet. Dress goods were fairly active in agents' hands, and a very liberal distribution was effected by the jobbing houses. Shawls were sluggish in first hands, but more active with jobbers.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Business was only moderate with importers, but a liberal distribution of foreign fabrics was reported by jobbers. Staple and fancy dress goods were in steady demand, and as stocks are by no means excessive, prices are fairly maintained. Silks were freely offered at auction, and widely distributed at rather low prices. Millinery goods and ribbons were less active than expected. Woollen goods lacked animation in first hands, but were jobbed in moderate quantities to a fair amount. For linen goods, white goods, Hamburg embroideries and laces there was a steady demand, and there was a fair inquiry for hosiery and kid and fabric gloves.
